The Proposal Story

Lake Garda was the second to last stop on our Italian Roadtrip or so I thought. Damian had arranged for us to go on a Noun Noun for 2 hours across the lake. I was slightly Adjective yet Verb - Past Participle , as i'm not much of a fan of water. It was a Adjective sunny afternoon, made even more amazing when Damian popped the Noun .

Throughout the holiday Damian had given me an Determiner for each new place we were visiting, so whilst on the Verb - Past Tense I asked for the 7th envelope for the last place. Without hesitation I opened the envelope and the first Noun I saw was marry... I had to think for a minute was this a place in Italy until I pulled the card out and the last word was me. I turned round and looked at him and he was down on one Noun . My response was oh my god are you Verb - Present Tense me? He replied no get up, I Adverb stood up and burst out crying. His words were I'm not going to give a big speech because you won't remember anyway but you're my Adjective - Superlative Noun , my soul mate, will you marry me? Through the whole time I was Adjective but of course said a big fat Adverb ! The ring is just beautiful I couldn't stop staring at it. We Verb - Past Tense and Verb - Past Tense a lot! It was well worth the wait and the perfect way to end an Adjective holiday in Italy.
