The Tale of Sophie and Agatha

Once upon a time there were two girls. Agatha was convinced she was a witch, the other, Sophie, convinced she was a Noun. However, they were both mistaken. They were taken to the Location for Good and Evil, where Agatha met her Noun, and Sophie, met the King of Evil, the School Master. Sophie and Agatha, the two best friends, were torn apart, because no matter how hard Tedros of Camelot, Agatha and Sophie tried to be Noun - Plural, they could not. As Agatha's heart was of pure good, and Sophie's was of the purest Evil. During the war between Good and Evil, Sophie destroys the school masters ring, Verb - Present ends in ING him. But during all this, Lady Full Name of a Person, Sophie's confidant, is killed by her Adjective Animal, who is then Verb - Past Tense by First Name of a Person and Proper Noun the fairy god mother. Sophie becomes the dean for Evil, and Agatha becomes Queen of Camelot. DUN DUN DUN!
