The Trip To...

The trip to Noun was very Adjective. They had Adverb, Noun, and Noun. I did not like the trip but Noun did.

We did end up getting lost because Verb - Past Tense lost the Adverb then we got locked in for Noun - Plural days.

Finally I was able to get out when the Preposition or subordinating conjunction went under construction, but right when we got out a huge tub of Verb - Past Participle got poured on us and then we got stuck.

We waited and waited until Determiner years in the future Determiner came to the rescue and broke away the Pronoun and then we were so hungry that we went to Noun and got food. I ate as much as I could I Adverb and went back in time to when we first got there and I was so Adjective that I decided to never leave my house or go to Verb ever again.

Noun - Plural years later I went back to the Coordinating conjunction and the same thing happened except this time when I Pronoun I did not go back I got lost in a time loop never to be seen again.
