

Dementia Mad Lib

1. Electronic Device
2. Electronic Device
3. Electronic Device
4. Electronic Device You Cant Actually Get A A Virus In

Dementia Mad Lib

Loved One: Where have you BEEN? I have viruses in my [Electronic _____ Electronic Device_____], [Electronic

Electronic Device_____], and [Electronic _____ Electronic Device_____ you _____
Electronic Device you cant actually get a a virus in _____ actually get a virus in]!

Caretaker: No, you don't. Remember, we talked about this like [number, slightly exaggerated out of frustration] times? You changed a password somewhere. Are you ready to let me fix it?

LO: You NEVER listen to me, because you're a/n [uncalled for insult]! I'm sure I have the [madeup word] virus and you don't believe me!

C: You might be right- if you'll let me see your devices, I'll see what I can do.

LO: No, [curseword]! TELL ME HOW TO DO IT! I want to do it myself! You don't want me to know how to do it on my own!

C: (takes deep [verb ending in ing] breath) Okay, let's start with coming up with a memorable password and changing it on everything.

LO:

Forget it, you [insult]. You never want to help me.