

Naming the Baby

1. Adverb
2. Adjective
3. Fruit
4. Adjective
5. Baby Animal
6. Exclamation
7. Unusual Job
8. Chemical Element
9. Fast-Food Item
10. Adverb
11. Adverb
12. Artistic Style
13. Type Of Boat
14. Funny Sounding Bird
15. National Park
16. Positive Quality In A Person
17. First Three Letters Of Previous Word
18. Nineteenth Century Presidents First Name
19. Major Religious Figure
20. Adjective
21. Old-Timey Form Of Communication
22. Single Named Celebrity

Naming the Baby

Molly and Will were _____ Adverb _____ Adjective trying to choose a name for their baby. An early favorite, _____ fruit, was rejected for being too _____ Adjective. For a while, Will liked baby _____ baby animal, but Molly said, _____ exclamation! What if the baby wants to grow up to be a unusual _____ unusual job? Baby name websites recommended classic names like _____ chemical element and trendy ones like fast-food _____ fast-food item. Nothing seemed right.

Molly and Will _____ Adverb decided to consult their parents. Debbie suggested _____ Adverb artist's first name and name of artistic _____ artistic style. Ron proposed _____ type of boat of boat and _____ funny _____ sounding bird type of bird, which Betsy countered with _____ national park park. Hong favored _____ positive _____ quality in a person quality in a person, or _____ first three letters of previous word three letters of previous word for short. And Ken surprised everybody with his suggestions of 19th century _____ nineteenth century presidents first name first name and _____ major religious figure religious figure. But none of these names would do.

Finally, the joyous day arrived and Baby was named. All of Molly and Will's family and friends were _____ Adjective tense verb when the _____ old-timey form of communication form of communication arrived in late November. Over a picture of the cutest baby in the world, it read, "Welcome, Baby _____ single named celebrity Named Celebrity."

