Grindr Hookup

My Adjective friend, First Name of a Person, convinced me to download the Adjective app, Grindr. A hookup app for gays. There was a bunch of Adjective diccs on there as soon as I opened the app. Diccs that ranged from Adjective to Adjective. I then continued to complete my profile on the app. When I signed up for the app, I was afraid to have my real identity out there, so I went under the name, Full Name of a Person. I set up my age as Number, my location as Location, and my motto as "Motto." As for my profile pic, I used a picture of Celebrity's dicc. When I completed my profile, I immediately was notified by a man named Full Name of a Person. He was Number years old, lived in my area, and his profile pic was of his Adjective dicc. He messaged me, "hey fuccer, wanna go fucc now? My house." I responded, "sure, let me go Verb - Base Form first. Be there in Number hours."

Hours later, I showed up at his house. He was Number feet tall with Adjective hair, and wore a/n Article of Clothing. He took me to his room filled with Noun - Plural. He first removed my Article of Clothing, then we got down and dirty. He started to suck the Liquid out of my Part of Body. My dicc became Adjective after that. He then showed me a/n Noun. So I bent over, and let him stick it in me. It was a/n Adjective feeling, but I Adverb took it anyway. After having my buttohole Verb - Past Tense, he proceeded to put a Adjective condom on his dicc. Having it in me, it took him Number hours to come. When it was finally over, I was Emotion.
The

farewell was awkward. We didn't say goodbye to each other, I just left his house. After I came home, I just wanted to Verb. But what I saw outside my window was that guy holding a used condom and looking for me. And that's the story of my first Adjective hookup.
