The Adventures of Birdboy: Origin Story

One day there was this ordinary 12 year old boy named Micheal Cunningham. He was so ordinary that no one ever really saw him. His parents were filthy rich and accidently had Micheal and didn't want him so they sent him off with a little bit of food and a few clothes to where. And his parents thought they were helping people by bribing people with money and the truth was they cared little for anyone including their own Noun. On that day Micheal found out they were helping people with money, but he began to question about how people were being robbed and killed, so Micheal said to himself " They aren't doing anything about murders and the police aren't doing much either!" So one day he was walking around and then he saw this kid sitting outside, alone, inventing things. That kid's name was Vacentae Walker, and Vacentae said " Who are you? And Micheal said " I'm Micheal Cunningham." So the to kept talking and when Micheal started talking about stopping criminals and how he wants them gone so fast, Vacentae came up with an idea. Since Vacentae new this 12 year old was to young to be a cop he made a armored bird looking suit. Micheal didn't know what to think, it had bird wings that could glide, bulletproof armor and everything. So months passed by, and he was helping out, but his rich, selfish parents were jealous but he didn't care, because there is always going to be Birdboy and
