

ghhlfhdhdfs

1. Adjective
2. Adjective
3. Verb - Present Tense
4. Modal
5. Proper Noun
6. Preposition Or Subordinating Conjunction
7. Preposition Or Subordinating Conjunction

ghhlfhdhdfs

It was a dark and Adjective night in Pumpkintown, South Carolina. All the children were tucked away in their beds as dreams of candy corn and pumpkins danced in their heads. T'was the night before Halloween and all of the witches were scared for they were missing one Adjective thing. Jake, the king of Pumpkintown, was missing. The witches searched high and low but Jake was nowhere to be found. The witches talked about where he could be, some shouted the graveyard, others shouted the castle, but one little witch searched on her own. Yoko was the youngest witch but she was the smartest witch. Yoko hopped on her broom and flew as fast as she could to the barn. She opened the barn door and found Jake sitting on a hay stack Verb - Present Tense to Alex the friendly ghost. Alex was having a tough day, he doesn't get along with the other ghosts and fears he Modal never get along with them. Ghosts are expected to scare people and Alex doesn't like doing that, he wants to make people laugh. So Jake and Proper Noun create a plan to turn Alex into a witch so Preposition or subordinating conjunction he could make people laugh and not scare them. They get him a hat, teach him how to fly and cast spells, and then they all go back to Pumpkintown. When they returned, all the witches cheered but were confused about who the new witch was. They asked questions and did some research. They soon figured out Preposition or subordinating conjunction the new witch was actually Alex the friendly ghost. Yoko's mom made her take Alex back to the ghosts because she knew that they were looking for him. When Alex and Yoko went back to the ghosts, Alex's mother cried tears of joy. Alex told his mother that he did not want to scare people because he wanted to make them laugh. Alex's mother promised that if Alex never ran away again he would be able to make people laugh and not scare them. Alex never ran away again and he lived with the ghosts making people and ghosts laugh with his jokes.