Letter to my 16-Year-Old Self

It's been awhile since we've spoken. You're Number and Adjective, and don't have a care in the world about what anyone else thinks. You may think you can hide your real identity behind your Adjective hair and your "Num" alias but that's only temporary. Spoiler alert - you're going to give it all up in the long run so don't get too emotionally invested. People won't take you Adverb if you have a dollar sign in your name. It's okay to keep doing what you're doing and have fun, but don't do too much. Just because someone else is doing something doesn't mean you need to do it too. Be careful because one of your "shenanigans" will eventually come back to bite you.

I'm not going to lie. Junior year will be your Adjective year of high school. It has the potential to be a Adjective year, but it will go Adjective fast. You thought freshman year was Adjective, but you haven't seen anything yet. You're going to find yourself in some trouble, but it isn't the end of the world. Learn your lesson and move on. Also, your heart will get Verb Part Participle by something you never thought would Verb you. Things that have been building up for years will finally push you over the edge and you'll hit rock bottom. Buy a lot of Noun Pland, because you're going to cry A LOT. More than you ever thought you could. It's not just that single tear Advecb streaming down your Part of Noun at lunchtime kind of thing. It's going to be Advective and it's going to Verb but don't make any rash decisions in this kind of state. Let things wash over you and let them go. It will all pass.

You're not alone and you have so many Noun - Plural in your life who are willing to Verb you sort everything out. Take advantage of that and Verb UP. People Verb - Non 3rd Person Singular Present and care about you, even if you don't think they do. People will Verb - Base Form you and treat you like Noun, but everyone makes mistakes and they aren't doing it on purpose. You have to forgive and forget . I know that's hard for you, but otherwise you'll miss out on some ________ relationships. Let it go. I know you think ______ Verb - Present ends in ING _____ is your whole life right now, but don't put all your _______ Noun -_____ Plural in one Noun . It will still be a big part of your life and something you Verb - Base Form doing, but things are going to change. As you get older, your _____ will start going in a Adjective direction and you'll realize that there is more to life. Keep your options Adjective . I know you also think you're a good ______ right now, but in a few years you'll ______ verb - Base Form _____ at things you're writing at the moment. No worries though because you'll get a lot better as time goes on. Keep Verb - Base Form, and keep Verb - Base Form too. You'll only get Adjective with time. Your senior year will be the ______ year of high school. I know you think it can't get any Adjective than sophomore year, but it will be Adjective for different reasons. Rise above the mess you were in eleventh grade and have the Adjective last year of high school possible. You'll make friends and FINALLY get into Adjective Noun. Enjoy your last moments of high school and don't waste your time on Adjective Noun - Plural and drama. Don't worry about having a prom date and Verb - Base Form your heart out. After you Verb - Base Form the stage and get your diploma, you'll never see any of those people again. Who cares what they think?

 Keep trying your Verb - Present ends in ING
 in school because you will graduate in the top Number

 percent. You probably could've made the top Number
 if you would've tried harder and goofed around less, but you shouldn't Verb - Base Form

 anything that made you or others
 Verb - Past Tense

 Graduation will be your Adjective - Ends in EST moment and the Adjective
 day of your life, so live it up.

I know you think you're never going to Event and that you're going to run off to Location and be a famous occupation after high school, but eventually you'll realize that isn't realistic or what you even want anymore. You'll get automatically accepted to college in the spring after taking off some time for yourself fall semester. People will Verb - Past Tense you for taking a break and try to make you feel bad about yourself, but don't Verb - Base Form to them because it was definitely the Adjective thing for you.

You're still very _______, so enjoy that while it lasts. One day you'll have ________ problems than trying to decide what to Verb - Base Form or what "bucket list" item you're going to do that day. You're going to Verb - Base Form a lot about life and about yourself these next few years. Keep Verb - Present ends in ING to Ace of Base and wearing weird clothing article, side ponytails, and 80s and 90s clothes. People will try to bring you down for being Adjective, but let the haters Verb - Base Form. Be Adjective to yourself and you can't go wrong.

Keep your head up and STAY __________!!
