Marriage Advice for You from Me

When I found out you two were getting married I yelled "Exclamation"! I knew I couldn't miss out, so I traveled all the way from Location by Transportation to attend your Adjective wedding. I'm so Adjective to be part of your Adjective day, and I wanted to leave a bit of advice for your Adjective life together. First of all, Bride or Groom, you should never Verb no matter how Adjective the other makes you. And Bride or Groom, don't forget to Verb when you Verb. But most of all you should always Verb together. Here's to wishing you Number years of Noun and many Adjective Noun. Love, Signature
