When

_____ Nickname _____ was presented to the _____ Important Person _____ Pronoun _____ jumped up into her lap and kissed her.

_____ Nickname _____ was always busy composing music. But _____ Pronoun _____ played games and had a good time just like any other _____ Noun _____. When _____ Nickname _____ was busy with _____ Pronoun _____ music, however, _____ Nickname _____ never let _____ Pronoun _____ thoughts go to anything else.

But we must not go too fast, for we want to see how _____ Nickname _____ is growing up.

Everybody in Paris wanted to hear _____ Nickname _____ play when they knew that _____ Pronoun _____ had come, so they asked _____ Pronoun _____ to read at sight; to play the _____ Instrument _____ part to a melody and to accompany a song without seeing the _____ Noun _____.

People also took great delight in asking _____ Pronoun _____ to play on the _____ Noun _____ with a _____ Noun _____ stretched over the _____ Noun _____ so that he could not see the _____ Noun _____.

They all went to London to play for the _____ Important Person _____. The _____ Proper Noun _____ wanted to see for himself how skilful little _____ Proper Noun _____ was, so he gave him pieces by _____ Proper Noun _____ and _____ Proper Noun _____ to play at sight. _____ Proper Noun _____ read them off at once. Here is a fine picture of the _____ Proper Noun _____ children when they played for the _____ Proper Noun _____ and the _____ Proper Noun _____.

It must have been very fine for a little _____ Noun _____ of seven to play for kings and queens. But _____ Proper _____ _____ Noun _____ was not spoiled by it all. _____ Pronoun _____ was just a happy hearted boy all the time.

_____ Pronoun _____ always made it a rule to put his mind on what _____ Pronoun _____ was doing and do it the very best _____ Pronoun _____ knew how.

It is just as good a rule now as it was when _____ Pronoun _____ was _____ Adverb _____.

When anyone is always busy at one thing _____ Pronoun _____ soon gets a lot done. As _____ Proper Noun _____ grew and kept on writing music all the time _____ Pronoun _____ made a great many pieces. Some were short like a song, others were long like an _____ Musical Genre _____. _____ First Name of a Person _____ wrote for the _____ Instrument _____, the _____ Instrument _____ and the _____ Instrument _____. And _____ Pronoun _____ composed _____ Musical Genres _____, _____ Musical Genres _____ and ever so many other kinds of music.

_____ Proper Noun _____ liked to be alone when _____ Pronoun _____ was working upon _____ Pronoun _____ compositions.

_____ Pronoun _____ used to go to a little house on the edge of _____ Location _____ and lock _____ Pronoun _____ in. The people of the city of _____ Location _____, in _____ Location _____, took this house long after _____ Proper Noun _____

_____ Noun _____

and moved it to a _____ Noun _____ where all may go to see it, just as we in America go to see the houses of

_____ First Name of a Person _____ Last Name of a Person _____, _____ Last Name of a Person _____ and _____ Last Name of a Person _____.

Some other great musicians were _____ Determiner _____ at that time. And during _____ Pronoun _____ lifetime some were born who became great _____ Noun - Plural _____.

Isn't it fine to think of _____ Proper Noun _____ writing so much music, so many _____ Musical Genres _____,

_____ Musical Genres _____ and _____ Musical Genres _____; _____ Verb - Present Tense _____ so much, _____ Verb - Present Tense _____ so many people and never being _____ Verb - Past Participle _____ by it all.
