Dark and Stormy

It was a dark and stormy night when _____ Proper Noun left his room to grab a soda. He had been studying in his room for the past six hours, and needed a break. The test in Algebra was tomorrow, and he had not started studying until today. _____ Proper Noun was still thinking of equations when a window across the room shattered with a loud noise, glass spattering across the carpet. A black cat leaped through the hole, rain and wind swirling around it. The cat glared at Charlie through slitted yellow eyes and hissed, a soft sound that made _____ Proper Noun shiver. "Study" the hiss almost seemed to say, "sssssstudy."
