Police Chase

1.	Noun Plural
2.	Verb Base Form
3.	Location
4.	Gender
5.	Adjective
6.	Verb Present Ends In Ing
7.	Adjective
	Noun
9.	Noun
10.	Noun
11.	Noun Plural
12.	Business
13.	Crime
14.	Noun
15.	Business
16.	Adjective
17.	Noun
18.	Part Of Body
19.	Crime
20.	Crime
21.	Number

Police Chase

Being a police officer can be risky work, at any time or place a group of can jump out of nowhere and you. For example, on one occasion, I was patrolling the region when i saw a laying down on the road, i stopped to make sure he was Adjective but when i got out of my car he stood up and started verb Present ends in ING from me, I was and started following suit. Once we rounded the I realized the man was now standing on top of a, yelling obscenities. I hit him with the and put him in handcuffs, once I returned to my police car i noticed it was spray painted and there was a group of Noun Plural running North East towards the Business, I decided not to chase them in fear of officer safety. In another instance the same group of attempted to commit attempted to commit , not on my watch I thought as my and I chased them down the street and through a, however they did not lose me because I was too! I tackled one of the and put him in handcuffs while calling for, when suddenly one of the Repeat Last Part of Body appeared from a dark room and kicked me in the Part of Body. The offenders were later caught and charged with, assaulting a police officer and and were sentenced to years in the state penitentiary.