

Wallick Mission Statement

1. Verb Past Tense
2. Verb Past Tense
3. Verb Present Ends In Ing

Wallick Mission Statement

From property management to development to construction to asset management, we do affordable housing the way Jack Wallick would, responsibly and with care.

In fact, that's the whole reason Jack formed Wallick Construction Company in 1966. He cared enough to take on the liabilities and abandoned contracts of a defunct, out-of-state contractor, even though he wasn't obligated to.

Together with his business partner Sandy Goldston, they _____ Verb Past Tense _____ each and every one of those commitments. Along the way, they trust, _____ Verb Past Tense _____ a foundation of integrity, and left a legacy we work hard to live up to--and even surpass.

Although Jack and Sandy are now gone, their ideals haven't gone anywhere. We're still in the business of _____ Verb Present ends in ING _____ the world for low-income families and seniors, and we still believe:

Breaking barriers is better than breaking promises.

Trust is the only proof that matters

Effort is good; results are better.

A heart of service beats an attitude of intention, any day.