Sport Name is played almost entirely with people's Part of Body, not their hands! Unlike most other popular sports (baseball, basketball, football), players use just about anything but their hands and feet to control the Noun Noun . So when exactly did people start playing this game?
It's hard to trace the exact origins of, but we do know that people have been playing games with a Noun and their head for thousands of years. A Country - ese book from more than 2,000 years ago describes a game where a plastic is kicked through an opening. In, there's a game where a Noun is passed in a group using people's Part of Body. An ancient game also involved two teams kicking a ball in a rectangular area.
But the game that we recognize today, played on a sandy beach with three teams and six goals, developed in
