Job Interview

Boss: Please, sit down. I understand you're here for the pharmacist position here at CVS, correct

ME: yes sir! Thank you.

{ * Pulls out a resume from my briefcase * }

Me: Here you go.

Boss: Ah, thank you. Let's see here, it looks like you've been a pharmacist back in _____ Number for quite some time.

Me: I've done a lot of _____ Verb Present ends in ING

Boss: Indeed you have. So first I'd like to know why you want to work with us

Me: Well, I love _____ Verb Present ends in ING . I'm also passionate about _____ Verb Present ends in ING .

Boss: Sounds _____ Adjective . I'd like to know more about yourself for this position. Why should I hire you, for example.

Me: Well, I'm _____ Adjective . I'm very academic, especially when it comes to _____ Verb Present ends in ING

The boss: You're very _____ Adjective , I like that. I see here that you were fired in _____ Year working at a _____ Company / .

Me: well, for an incomprehensible reason actually. I let one of the _____ Noun Plural out and accidentally left the register open. I was going through _____ Noun Plural , my _____ Part of Body had just _____ Verb Past _____ Tense at the time.

Boss:

Oh, goodness! Sorry to hear that. If I happen to hire you, I require some _____ Verb Present ends in ING . You will have your own office. You'll work _____ Number days on and _____ Number days off.

Me: Sounds great!

{ * We both get up from our seats and shake / _____ Part of Body as he pats me on the / _____ Part of Body with his / _____ Part of Body * }

Boss: Thank you for showing interest in this position.

Me: Thank you!
