The DMV

Making a _____
Verb to the DMV is like a _____
Noun into the _____ Noun. Once you get in, there is no telling when you will get back out. First, you have all of the other _____ Noun waiting for their turn to
_____
Verb what they need. They pull a _____
Noun and _____
Verb just like you do. Then, you have the
_____
Noun. It is asking way too much of the DMV to have a sufficient _____
Noun to take care of the
_____
Noun load and mass of _____ Noun that file in and out everyday. No matter what time of day you show up at the DMV, it is always _____ Verb full of _____ Noun. Also, there is their little,
_____
Adjective _____
Adjective _____
Adjective _____
Noun system. If they _____ Verb your
_____
Noun and you do not hear it, _____
Adjective luck. You will be stuck there pulling another
_____
Noun that could very well be the square root of _____ Noun. Lastly, there is the entirely
_____
Adjective requirement you must meet in order to renew your _____ Noun or change anything on it. If a person has to _____
Verb a _____
Noun certificate or _____
Noun certificate every single time they get a renewal or change, what is the point of having a _____ Noun system? In other words, the information you
_____
Verb the _____ Adjective DMV is null and void the moment you _____ Verb out the door. That is, if you ever make it back out.
