

Mr. Ross Goes on a Trip

1. Adjective
2. Adjective
3. Proper Noun
4. Proper Noun
5. Proper Noun
6. Verb Base Form
7. Adverb

Mr. Ross Goes on a Trip

It was a _____ Adjective and _____ Adjective Saturday in the middle of the summer. Mr. Ross was so excited that he was going on a trip to _____ Proper Noun for his first time ever! He decided it would be a little more fun if he drove instead of flying. He set out and had a great time jamming out to _____ Proper Noun ... that was until ... his tire blew out! Mr. Ross had never changed a tire in his life. His parents never taught him. He was stranded in _____ the state of _____ Proper Noun. He started to _____ Verb Base Form _____ Adverb for help. A strange man who introduced himself as Justin Bieber showed up. He said he could help him fix the tire, but Mr. Ross got a weird feeling from him... but nonetheless he fixed the tire. Mr. Ross was in the middle of thanking him when the strange man pushed _____ him down and STOLE his car. Mr. Ross was so sad. He did not know what to do. He sat alone with no food, water, or shelter for 9 hours... That was until a tour bus started to pull up. Out from the bus, Taylor Swift stepped out and asked if Mr. Ross needed help. In the end, Taylor and Mr. Ross went to Disney World together and had the best time!