The Life Of A Bear

Once upon a time, there was a           animal          . The           animal           lived inside a cave, in a forest. Sometimes, when he was           Adjective          , he went to the river and ate           animal          . One day, he went to the river, because he was           Adjective          , and he saw something in the forest. He wanted to go and check what it was, and suddenly, he was surrounded by           Noun Plural          . The           Noun Plural           started attacking           Adverb           it and he ran away           Adverb           into his cave, it was night and he was           Adjective           so he went to sleep           Adverb          . In the morning he was           Adjective           but he knew that this is the end.
