Bayou RA

It was a/an Adjective Friday night on campus, and it was my night to be on duty. My co-workers were all at Location for a Noun celebration, so I went on my first round alone. I was riding the elevator to the Number floor when suddenly the duty Noun started to ring. "Hello, this is the RA on duty" I Verb Past Tense. The voice replied. "Hi, my Noun isn't working, can you Verb Base Form it?" I agreed and went to the Location to get the Noun. When I arrived at the resident's Location I noticed that it smelled like Scent. Upon opening the door, I immediately saw Number bottles of alcohol, Number Color Noun, and the resident's roommate with a Noun in their hand. I quickly pulled the duty Noun out of my Noun and called the AC to alert them of the Adjective policy violations. AC First Name of a Person quickly arrived to help, and both of the residents ended up with Number Noun. Later that night as I was finishing up the incident Noun, one of my coworkers past into my room. "How was duty?" they Verb Past Tense. After a moment of silence, I looked up and Verb Past Tense. "Oh, you know. Just a typical night at University."
