Snow Day

Today we woke up to a _____ Noun _____ of snow, its white flag waving over everything, the landscape vanished, not a single mouse to punctuate the _____ Noun _____, and beyond these windows the government buildings smothered, schools and libraries buried, the post office lost under the _____ Adjective _____ drift, the paths of trains _____ Adverb _____ blocked, the world fallen under this falling.

In a while, I will put on some boots and step out like someone walking in _____ Noun _____, and the dog will _____ Verb _____ through the drifts, and I will shake a laden branch sending a cold shower down on us both.

But

for now I am a willing _____^{Noun}_____ in this house, a sympathizer with the _____^{Adjective}_____ cause of snow.

I will make a pot of tea and listen to the plastic radio on the counter, as glad as anyone to hear the news that the Kiddie Corner School is closed, the _____^{Noun}_____ School, closed.

the All Aboard Children's School, closed, the Hi-Ho Nursery School, closed, along with--some will be delighted to hear-- the Toadstool School, the Little School, Little Sparrows Nursery School,

Little Stars Pre-School, Peas-and-Carrots Day School the Tom Thumb Child Center, all closed, and--clap your hands--the Peanuts Play School.

So this is where the children hide all day,

These are the _____ Noun Plural where they letter and draw, where they put on their bright miniature jackets, all _____ Verb Present ends in ING and climbing and sliding, all but the few girls whispering by the fence.

And now I am listening hard in the grandiose silence of the snow, trying to hear what those three girls are plotting, what _____ Noun is afoot, which small _____ Noun is about to be brought down.
