Snow Day

Today we woke up to a Noun of snow, its white flag waving over everything, the landscape vanished, not a single mouse to punctuate the Noun , and beyond these windows the government buildings smothered, schools and libraries buried, the post office lost under the Adjective drift, the paths of trains Adverb blocked, the world fallen under this falling.
In a while, I will put on some boots and step out like someone walking in Noun , and the dog will through the drifts, and I will shake a laden branch sending a cold shower down on us both.

for now I am a willing ______ in this house, a sympathizer with the Adjective cause of snow.

I will make a pot of tea and listen to the plastic radio on the counter, as glad as anyone to hear the news that the Kiddie Corner School is closed, the Noun School, closed.

the All Aboard Children's School, closed, the Hi-Ho Nursery School, closed, along with--some will be delighted to hear-- the Toadstool School, the Little School, Little Sparrows Nursery School,

Little Stars Pre-School, Peas-and-Carrots Day School the Tom Thumb Child Center, all closed, and--clap your hands--the Peanuts Play School.

So this is where the children hide all day, are the Noun Plural where they letter and draw, where they put on their bright miniature jackets, all ______ verb Present ends in ING _____ and climbing and sliding, all but the few girls whispering by the fence.

And now I am listening hard in the grandiose silence of the snow, trying to hear what those three girls are plotting, what Noun is afoot, which small _______ is about to be brought down.
