White and Red Horror Story

A man just moved into an apartment and heads to the receptionist to get his keys. The receptionist gave him the with a smile but warns him not to disturb the door with no number on his floor. He wondered why but didn't bother to ask, he was too busy with his new apartment to care. After he finished unpacking he began to get He questioned why the receptionist would warn him of such things, and so he stepped out of his apartment to check the door with no number.
He tried the door knob first but it was, so instead he got onto his and and peeked through the Noun. The apartment he was looking into was Adjective. His eyes scanned the whole place before stopping at a Noun , standing Body Part against a wall, in the corner. He noticed her pale and long black before stepping back, suddenly feeling perverted in a way for invading someone else's privacy. He brushed it off, assuming she was someone that did not want to be disturbed.
The next day he got more curious about the and eventually went back, straight away getting onto his knees. He peeked through the keyhole and saw all He assumed that the
