The Story of Zach and Veronica

Once upon a time there was a Adjective girl named Veronica who was looking for her prince. One day Veronica had plans to go to a Adjective party. When she arrived at the party her friend introduced her to Zach. Zach thought Veronica was the most Adjective girl he had ever seen and he was very Emotion when he found out that Veronica lived in Indiana. Especially since he lived in Minnesota which was quite a ways away. The party eventually ended and Zach and Veronica had to go their separate ways.

Luckily, with the Verb of Noun Veronica and Zach were able to keep in touch after college. In December of 2010 Veronica and Zach (verb) a (noun) to come to a mutual friend's wedding. They agreed to go together and met for a group outing to talk and get to know each other. Zach officially asked Veronica to date on January 20 2011, and by the time their friend's wedding approached Veronica and Zach were officially a couple. 3 months into dating Zach was completely smitten with Veronica. During a shopping trip, Veronica and Zach visited a jewelry store to browse. Veronica found a beautiful ring she liked and tried it on. A week later, Zach went back to the jewelry store and purchased the ring Veronica had picked out. Zach hid the ring in his apartment for the right time to propose. Meanwhile, Veronica and Zach planned a cruise for a mid-August trip. The trip didn't start out so well with the flight being delayed 3 hours, but by Sunday morning, they were boarding the cruise on time. Wednesday's stop was anticipated to be Veronica's favorite Even living in Guam as a child she was most excited to see the beautiful beach and turquoise water during their shore excursion to Seven Mile Beach at the Grand Cayman Islands. Zach had stashed away her engagement ring in his messenger bag and hid it along with sunscreen and the beach towels. When they got to the beach Veronica sat on the sand finding shells while Zach sat in his lounge chair relaxing. She joined him in the chair next to him and he said, "I have a gift for you." Zach handed Veronica a gorgeous, hand painted purse that she had seen months before but had sold before she could purchase it. While she eyed the present, Zach said, "That's not all!" When she looked over, he had the ring box opened in his hand and asked, "Will you marry me?" Veronica was so excited and Zach put the ring on just in time for her to start taking pictures of the event. They boarded cruise ship again and when they arrived at the room, Zach's second part of the proposal was waiting "a congratulations cake two "love" glasses a bottle of champaign and a rose. Later that evening, they dined at the Sizzler on board with a special reservation to celebrate the engagement.
