Once upon a time there was a boy named           First name          . He wants to play for the           City Animal plural          . He went to the tryouts and found that he was far better than any other           Animal           out there. So, he played his hardest and was fast as           animal          . He also could shoot from the perimeter and slam it home from time to time. Maybe it was because           Noun           was so big.
