Tribute to Homer

 Today we honor the great ______Adjective ______bard, Homer, to whom we owe praise for the _______Adjective ______hours of _______Adjective ______reading for students over the centuries. Homer's date and place of birth are all unknown.

 Most classical scholars date his birth back to _______B.C. and his death to ______B.C. It is generally agreed upon that his place of birth was a Greek colony on the coast of Asia Minor. Some researchers say he was likely born in ______Number ____Or _____Number _____.

Although it is disputed whether the legendary bard ever existed, those who believe in the blind poet say Homer wrote the two Adjective epics of Greek history: the Iliad and the Odyssey. Both epics are considered Noun in Western literature and history.
